New Jersey Aviation Association Joins Forces With the Alliance for Aviation Across America

Together, The Organizations Will Continue to Educate Lawmakers on the Necessity to Invest Fully in the National Air Transportation System

The Alliance for Aviation Across America is a diverse coalition of aviation enthusiasts and professionals representing individuals, businesses, lawmakers and others in protecting community access, modernizing the air transportation system and protecting against user fees and higher taxes that would impede general aviation's ability to operate.

"We are proud", said Arlene Feldman, the President of the New Jersey Aviation Association, " to join forces with AAAA's member organizations that include the National Business Aviation Association, the Aircraft Owners and Pilots Organization and the National Association of State Aviation Officials.

The New Jersey Aviation Association, representing New Jersey's multi-billion dollar general aviation community shares in AAAA's dedication to promote and protect the interests of aviation. NJAA continues to educate lawmakers and the general public on the importance of aviation and the financial benefits it provides to the state's economy.

NJAA will continue to support the Alliance for Aviation Across America and the major aviation organizations it represents, by promoting the fact that aviation is a major component of the national transportation system and an important vehicle for economic growth in America. .
